

JONES IS AS HAPPY AS A BABE; SAYS HE'LL COME CLEAR YET

Defendant in Lyons Murder Case, With 25 Years' Verdict Against Him by Jury, Whistles Merrily in His Cell; Claims Many Witnesses Not Yet Seen by Lawyers; Statute Makes Sentence Indeterminate.

"I WAS somewhat shocked—no, I won't say that, because you can never tell what a jury will do," Felix R. Jones, interviewed in the county jail by a Herald reporter Friday, said, Jones, who had been on trial about two weeks on an indictment alleging murder of Thomas Lyons, had been found guilty Thursday night, the jury returning its verdict just before 8 o'clock after nearly four hours' deliberation.

The sentence recommended was 25 years' confinement in the penitentiary, but the statute fixes a sentence like that to mean an indeterminate sentence of five to 25 years.

Jones was found in the best of spirits, whistling and as happy as a new-born babe. He was writing letters to all his distant relatives when the reporter was ushered to his cell, one of a tier occupied only by this prisoner.

Expectations to Come Clear. "You can say," he added, "that I will get a new trial and that at that hearing I will come clear. There are a number of my witnesses whom my lawyers have not even seen, because I didn't have the money to send to them for interviews. During the trial, my wife received a letter from a man at San Antonio whom we don't know, and this letter contained evidence that would clear me of its own weight, even if I didn't have any other evidence. Besides, I have a number of

CARDUI A SPLENDID TONIC

For Women, Says Hixson Lady, Who Took This Medicine On Her Doctor's Advice.

Hixson, Tenn.—Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place, makes the following statement regarding her experience with Cardui: "I was . . . I suffered with a pain in my left side; could not sleep at night for this pain—always in the left side. My feet and legs were terribly swollen. I was almost in bed.

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me, and after my baby came I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there. I at first let it go, but I began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did. The last Cardui I took made me much better, and, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble. I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

If you feel weak, tired, worn-out, or suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, try Cardui, the woman's tonic. It must be a good medicine for women, for many thousands have voluntarily told, just as Mrs. Gadd did, of the good it has done them. Ask some lady friend who has tried Cardui. She will tell you how it helped her. Then get a bottle from your nearest druggist.—Adv.

I am sure I never could have survived an operation."

Won't Stay Where Dog Is Unwelcome May Robson Owes Her Life to Pet

MISS MAY ROBSON.

MAY ROBSON is in El Paso today and you can just bet that the hotel where she is registered, takes in dogs as well as humans, for Miss Robson never stops where they don't let her dog stop.

It may not be exactly a case of "love me, love my dog," but Miss Robson is so attached to her little Pomeranian that she will not be separated from him one minute she can help, and when her advance man goes from city to city making arrangements for her stage appearance, he has instructions to get a room where she can keep the dog.

"If you can't get a room in the best hotel for me and Fifi, then get a room in the next best or the next best or a rooming house—somewhere I can be with Fifi," is the instruction she gives, and the instruction is always followed.

Miss Robson is attached to Fifi not merely because he is a cute, pretty, fluffy little ball of animal life, but he once saved her life.

She and Fifi were in a hotel in New York state when a fire broke out. She had a very hard day and was sleeping soundly. The noise of the firemen arriving, of their climbing into and onto the structure, of the hurrying, scurrying guests, failed to awaken her. The firemen thought everybody had got out or been rescued and had ceased to look for guests.

Suddenly Miss Robson was awakened by Fifi barking and pulling at the neck lace of her sleeping robe. Bounding out of bed, she discovered her plight, but retained her self-possession long enough to get to a window, Fifi in her arms, and signal the firemen. They took her down a ladder and, before she reached the ground, the burning roof above crashed down into the very room where she had been resting.

Do you wonder that Fifi must sleep in the same room as his mistress and that a maid will look after him tenderly this evening and tomorrow afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon and evening in the star's dressing room on the stage of the Texas Grand while his mistress is out on the stage pleasing the people?

EL PASO FILM IS NOWHERE

Special Showing to Chamber of Commerce and Invited Guests Saturday.

A special invitation was extended today by the management of the Gremlin theater to president Otis C. Coles and directors of the chamber of commerce and their families, to witness a special production Saturday morning at 1 o'clock of the Paramount El Paso-made feature picture, "The Spreading Evil." This picture has been booked by the Gremlin for next week's showing in El Paso, but this special showing is to be given Saturday morning to invited guests.

The picture was made in El Paso and is the first one ever made and completed here.

TODAY'S AMUSEMENTS
ALHAMBRA, VIVIAN MARTIN.
It is a well known fact that dainty Vivian Martin is indubitably the most made her everybody's friend. In her latest Paramount picture, "A Petticoat Pilot," which is being shown today, she is simply irresistible.

There was never a story with a more charming star, a more tender, appealing story, and a more steady grip of suspense than this. Miss Martin has succeeded in drawing a marvelous picture of her heroine, from the days of piteous glumness to winsome young womanhood. A charming love story with the son of a defaulting partner of the old sea captain who adopted her, runs throughout. The fact that the father of her suitor ran away with the wife of one of his partners, who was also the sister of another, increased the bitterness of the old man when he learned that she wished to marry his boy. "All's well that ends well," however, and the turn of the wheel of fate brings Mary Gusts sudden happiness and a satisfactory end to the film. Don't miss this. It is a picture you will be glad to tell your friends about. The music, too, is a special feature and the selections are always arranged to suit the picture.—Adv.

"HER BOY," UNIQUE.
Every mother, son, father and daughter should see "Her Boy," featuring Edna Shannon and Niles Welch, showing at the Unique today. "Her Boy" is a new angle to the conscription draft law, and it shows to what extreme a devoted mother goes to save her only son from being drafted into the army. She even resorts to perjury, and, as a last resort, denies his legitimacy.

"Parentage," the greatest film dealing with vital home life problems day to day, is being shown at the Gremlin today. It is a story in which passionate love, secret plotting and sudden death figure in a way that creates a tenacity of interest seldom equalled in screen drama.

Wm. Desmond, Charles Gunn, Jack Richardson, Claire McDowell, Walt Whitman and other Triangle players comprise the excellent all star cast of the production. "Parentage" is a picture well worth your while, one that will be highly enjoyed by all who see it.—Adv.

WIGWAM—BILLY WEST.
"A. H. H. The Villain," as played by the clever knockabout comedian, "Billy West," will be seen at the Wigwam today. The engagement this week will be for but one day instead of two, as usual, as we are too good to lay on the shelf, and we have so many good things for Saturday that we cannot use both Billy and "Beaches Peaches" and "The Devil Stone." The picture will be shown at 10 o'clock, 8 o'clock and 1 o'clock. The Vamp, a Nestor comedy, will also be shown.

Monday, Geraldine Farrar will be seen in "The Devil Stone."—Adv.

Woman Offers Her Hair And That of Daughter For Use If Needed

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—Out of the many offers of personal sacrifices which reach the government, one made known today attracted more than usual attention.

It was an offer to the war department by Mrs. Bridget Quinn, of Conifer, Pa., to give her hair and her little daughter's hair for use in the munition factories if the government needed them.

Secretary Baker wrote Mrs. Quinn a personal letter acknowledging her patriotism, but saying such a sacrifice was not needed at present.

Evidently the woman had heard of the use of women's hair for belting on munition machines in Germany.

BAKERS MUST LIVE UP TO 20 PERCENT RULE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 22.—State food administrators were ordered today to enforce strictly the food administration's rule requiring bakers to use 20 percent of wheat flour substitutes in all bakery products by February 24.

"This rule," a telegram sent to the administrators said, "is an important link in the food administration's wheat conservation program, upon the success of which depends our ability to supply the allies with the wheat flour that is essential to their victory and ours. The list of substitutes is wide."

SAYS CHILD LABOR LAW IS VIOLATED IN EL PASO

Austin, Tex., Feb. 22.—Violations of the child labor law were found at El Paso, according to T. C. Jennings, state labor commissioner, who has just returned from making an investigation at that place. He also found cases of violation of the 14 hour law, but he said there will be no prosecutions as the offenders have agreed to promptly correct the evils complained of. In several instances Jennings said those violating these laws were not familiar with their various provisions.
